HE IS NOT A CANDIDATE.

Admiral Dowey Says that He Would Not Accept a Nomination for Presi-dent.

New York, April 10,-Admiral Dewey has given to the Manila correspondent of Leslie's Weekly an interview regarding the suggestion that the admiral be made a candidate for the presidency sext year. The admiral said as to his politics:

"I am a sailor. A sailor has no poll-The admininstration is his party and, republican or democrat, it makes no difference. Then again I come from Vermont and you know what that means. To be anything but a republican in Vermont is to be a man without a party. My flag lieutenant comes from Georgia. He tells me that to be anything but a democrat in the south is to be a nobody. If I lived south I would probably be a democrat."
"Have you ever voted?" the correspondent asked.

"Yes, years ago, but my vote was usually influenced by personal prefer-ence or local conditions. I am not a politician, have never held political office, and am totally ignorant of party intricacles and affiliations."

Admiral Dewey said that neither by vocation, disposition, education or training was he capacitated to fill the presidency. He said he was too well along in life to consider such a possibility. His health would not admit it. All his life's work was in different lines of effort, and while the kindness and enthusiasm of his friends were grateful to him and the generous tributes of the American people were dear to him, he could not and would not be a candidate for the presidency of the United States under any conditions.

A Cuban Judge Wants to Prosecute Gen. Ludlow - An Odious Spanish Law.

Havana, April 10 .- Secretary of Justice Lanuza will probably not comply with the request of Judge Ortiza of the Guadeloupe district court, Havana province, to prosecute Gen. Ludlow, the military governor, for "interfering to prevent Jolliffe and Barton, Americans, being kept incommunicado as provided by the Spanish law." Judge Ortiza bases his request for the prose-cution upon the following paragraph of the penal code. "Administrative or military functionaries who shall orders to a judicial thority relative to matters controversy whose decision is within the exclusive competency of courts of justice, shall incur the penalties of suspension and of fines ranging from 625 to 6,250 pesetas,"

If the matter is brought to an issue the question will be whether an Ameriofficial has a right to issue an order contravening Spanish law unless supported by decree of the governor gen-Judge Ortiza insists that the incommunicado law is in full force, like all other Spanish, laws which Gen. Brooke's proclamation of January 1 affirmed were to be unchanged. Ludlow intervened in the case of Jolliffe and Barton because the Spanish officials refused to allow the attorneys and friends of the prisoners to have secess to them. It was this condition of things that prompted his written in-struction to Judge Ortiza not to apply the incommunicade rule to Americans.

USED ROCKS AND FISTS.

A Hot Battle Between Young Men in a New York Town.

West Point, N. Y., April 10.—A fierce bettle occurred at Highland Falls at a late hour Saturday night between candidates for admission to West Point as at Highland Falls prior to being examined at West Point next June for admission to the academy. There were about 30 of them in the fight, but they were ontnumbered three to one by the boys of the town.

The trouble began with a hand-to-hand encounter, and the crowd soon increased to such an extent that stonethrowing took the place of fists. Several of the candidates were more or less injured, the most seriously hurt being U. S. Grant third, appointed by the president. Many of the town boys were badly used up. The services of were badly used up. The services of all the doctors in town were required dress the wounds of the injured. Hostilities continued for nearly an

or More than a Third of a Century was an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Made a Brilliant Record There.

Washington, April 10 .- Justice Pield retired), of the United States supremcourt, died here at 6:30 p. m. Sunday from ailments incident to old age.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE FIELD.

Stephen Johnson Field was born at Haddam, Conn., November 4, 1816. He was the son of David Dudley Field and one of the four brothers who became so famous, David Dudley, Cyrus W. and Henry M. being the other members of the great quartette that made their names known throughout the world His early boyhood was spent at Stock bridge, Mass. At the age of 13 Stephen J. Field went to Smyrna, where his sister had married a missionary, Rev. Josiah Brewer, who had undertaken an educational mission to the Greeks, and he there acquired a knowledge of oriental languages. Returning to this country after two and a half years, he entered Williams college, from which he graduated in 1837 at the head of his class. He then went to New York, where he entered the law office of his brother, David Dudley, He was admitted to the bar and became a partner in the firm. In 1848 he went to Europe and spent some time there traveling. In November, 1849, he sailed for San Francisco around Cape Horn and entered upon the practice of law in the occidental metropolis. After a short time he moved to Marysville, a small mining camp, and became one of the founders of what afterwards grew to be a thriving town. When the little city was organized, Mr Pield was elected the alcalde of the This office carried with it the dignity of mayor and at the same time imposed all the duties of the bench. Here the future jurist dispensed justice and made his name widely known throughout the growing common

He was elected a member of the first legislature of the state and was influential in securing legislation favorable to the miners and aided in the passage of laws regulating the civil and criminal procedure of the state. At the close of the session he returned to Marysville and devoted six years to the practice of law. He was elected a judge of the supreme court of Cali-fornia in 1857 for the term of six years. In 1859 he became chief justice, succeeding David S. Terry. In 1863 President Lincoln appointed him associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, and he held that position until his retirement on December 1, 1897. His term was the cadets on the one side, and boys of the longest in the history of that tribunal. The great chief justice, John Marshall, are attending the preparatory schools wore the ermine for 34 years. It was to surpass this record and he succeed ed in doing so by a few months. He was concerned in some of the nost important cases ever passed upon by the supreme court. Among prominent decisions was the famous test oath case, in which he gave the easting vote, and wrote the opinion of the court annulling the validity of the "iron clad" oath. His dissenting opinions in the confiscation cases, the legal tender cases and in the New Orleans slaughter house case attracted the widest atention. During this long service on the bench he also was before the public eye in other ways than as a judge of the supreme court. He was a member of the Hayes-Tilden electoral commission in 1877 and voted with the democratic minority. In 1880 he received 65 votes for the presidential nomination at the Cincinnati democratic convention, or the first ballot. In 1889 one of the most sensations events of a remarkable active career brought his personality vividly before the public. Sarah A. H. Terry had brought sult against ex-Senator Sharon, a California multi-millionaire. Justice Field was on the bench. The outcome of the case was unfavorable the plaintiff and engendered in her feelings of hatred of the jurist. This culminuted in her attempt to chastise the aged justice in the depot eating house at Lathrop, Cal., a rallway junction Judge Terry, who had been her attorney in the suit against Sharon, and who afterward married her, interfered and when it seemed that he was at tempting to do violence to Justice Field's person, David Nagle, a United States deputy marshal, drew a revol ver and shot and killed Terry. Nagle was acquitted.

Archbishop Corrigan Tells How Re Once Aided a Burglar to Reform. Archbishop Corrigan, speaking at New York on the possibilities in prison reform work, related a bit of personal which had long remained a secret in his own breast.

It was at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Westervelt to form plans to aid Mrs. Foster, the "Tombs angel," in her work. Archbishop Corrigan took an active interest in the proceedings, and after Mrs. Foster had told how her selfmposed task had often been made lighter by the deeds of those she helped, he spoke of an experience he mee had with one just out from prison.

"It was years ago," the archbishop aid, "that a man who had just been released came to me and asked that I supply him with money to get him to San Francisco, where he promised to start life afresh. 'What claims have you on me,' I asked, 'that I should do this?' My strange visitor hesitated and then said: 'I entered your room one night with evil in my heart. You were asleep and my task was easy. I had taken your watch-I can even now tell the number of it—when something caused me to make a closer inspection of the room, and I saw who you were. I put back what I had taken and departed as empty-handed as I came.'

"The man's story decided me," the archbishop continued, "and I gave him $500. He did as he had promised, went far away and started a new life. With in a year I received $100 from him. Every year since I have received from the same penitent a similar sum. The original debt has long since been re-
